

NEURASTHENIA are proud to announce that a new guitarist has joined the band! Since 2011 they were searching for the fourth member and they took advantage of session men to engage all live shows in Italy and abroad.

ALEX ZANNONI is the name of the newcomer, who will take over the management of all solo parts of the next album.

NEURASTHENIA are in pre-production phase for their third studio album, that will be entitled as the very first monicker of the band (it was 1996): ANIMALATOR.

These are Neil's words:

"We spent four years to find someone that could join our family, first of all. We are a strange band, with resolute targets. We like to give the best to our fans and to be 200%. It was a long searching, but ALEX fits perfectly our lifestyle and musicianship... we're ready to restart, at last!"

ANIMALATOR's cover artwork will be looked after by the Russian artist Vladimir Chebakov, artwork, photos and videos by Simone Furia.
